To whom it may concern;

We have known Carol Anten for over 30 years, since before our children started school. Carol is a conscientious, trustworthy, and resourceful person who contributed to the special needs community by championing inclusion, developing support groups, and creating opportunities for both individuals and families.

Carol's leadership skills and high level of integrity combine with a genuine desire to help, as she has earned the trust of those who are most fortunate to collaborate with her in her endeavors, such as event planning, hospital outreach, and her vision in integrating community in all facets of her work and volunteer efforts. Her involvement with the historical society is a further example of her heartfelt commitment to integrating community in all that she does. Carol is a lifelong learner with a high intellect and a broad spectrum of knowledge.

It is a great pleasure to recommend Carol as a person of the highest integrity, commitment, and passion.
